Job Chart 2012 provides information about hundreds of Saskatchewan jobs. Some will be more familiar than others. Who knows? Job Chart might introduce you to a job that you have never heard of but would be perfect for. Take some time to learn more about what's out there.

What Does This Information Mean?

Job Chart contains the following relevant information for each job title listed:

Job Description

This is merely an introduction. For more detail about job duties, talk to someone who does this for a living, or visit www.saskjobfutures.ca for a larger profile.

Number Emp. (2006)

Remember, there is more turnover (and as a result, more openings) in jobs with high employment.

Avg. Income (2010)

This gives you a general sense of what you can expect to earn in each job. Within designated trades, journeypersons typically earn more than apprentices.

Training and Education Routes

This gives you a general list of Saskatchewan institutions that offer programs relevant to each job. For specific details, CONTACT THE INSTITUTION DIRECTLY! See page 32.

Prospects to 2014

If you are planning a career, it's important to know what your long-term employment prospects might be. With this in mind, we offer you the following three employment indicators.

☆☆☆... Good

☆☆... Fair

☆... Limited

Note: these indicators forecast employment demand over a five-year period. They may not reflect current conditions.

Education Icons

These icons indicate the level of education you likely will need to complete before working in a given job. To work as a lawyer, for example, you will need to attend university. To work as a plumber, you will need to complete apprenticeship training.

ⓘ ... Training Typically Provided On the Job

✂ ... Job Requires Apprenticeship Training

🍃 ... Job Requires College Education

🎓 ... Job Requires University Education

🔄 ... Transition

The difference between universities and colleges is not as clear as it used to be. In fact, many of the programs that were once exclusively offered at university are now available in part at SIAST or the Regional Colleges. And this benefits students, particularly in rural and remote areas.

This symbol (🔄) means that some portion of the university requirements for a job can be completed at the college level. Whatever post-secondary course you are interested in, find out what options exist by contacting the institution.
